

Dr. Laurie Bulkeley DVM
Chief Veterinarian and Surgeon

Dr. Laurie Bulkeley DVM has joined our Xtreme Healthy Lifestyles Medical Advisory Board Team. Dr. Bulkeley brings an extensive background to Xtreme Healthy Lifestyles core company's mission statement of living a complete Healthy Lifestyle. As a State Board Certified Veterinarian, Dr. Laurie Bulkeley brings a comprehensive approach to health and wellness in the human and animal medical community.

Dr. Bulkeley is the Chief Veterinarian and Surgeon at Yolo Veterinary Clinic. She practices medicine full time as well as managing a team of Veterinarians and Technicians, and has run a multi-million-dollar business for over 20 years. In this role, she has provided medical advice and training in health and wellness as well as disease prevention and treatment for the staff, veterinary students and technicians propelling her hospital to one of the most successful in the area.

Prior to working in this endeavor, Dr. Bulkeley worked for 9 years at Arcadia Small Animal Hospital, a referral medical and surgical facility. Here she was the primary consultant and referral doctor for all the internal medicine, oncology, cardiology, dentistry and ultrasound referrals in the area.

Dr. Bulkeley completed her undergraduate degrees with honors at University of Nevada in Reno. She has a B.S. degree in Cellular and Developmental Biology with graduate work in Genetics. She also concurrently earned a B.S. in Veterinary Medicine. Her graduate work was done at Colorado State University where she received her Doctorate of Veterinary Medicine with honors. After completion of Veterinary school, she worked at CSU in the Oncology department researching and developing a novel Veterinary diet for the support and treatment of cancer, which has been successfully developed into a commercial dog food.

Dr. Bulkeley has also earned her certification in Veterinary Medical Acupuncture and Laser Therapy which she practices on both horses and small animals.
